

Endocrinology TeleECHO Clinic

The Endocrinology TeleECHO Clinic (Endo ECHO) trains and supports primary care providers in rural and underserved communities to improve their knowledge of and skill in the care and management of patients with endocrinologic needs. Issues like complex diabetes, thyroid disease, adrenal and pituitary disorders, hypogonadism, Polycystic Ovary Syndrome (PCOS), hyperlipidemia, metabolic bone disorders and transgender health are discussed weekly in a community of practice with a team of experts.

If you are interested in obtaining more information, please contact the Endo ECHO team by sending an email to:

EndoECHO@salud.unm.edu

CLINIC TIME:

Wednesdays,
11 a.m. - 1 p.m.